HOW IT WORKS...

Every Friday morning a bountiful box of fresh produce will be dropped off at your doorstep filled with seasonal fruits, vegetables, and even natural eggs from Boggs Tract Community Farm. There will always be a variety of at least six-to-eight different kinds of fruits, vegetables and other edibles. Everything in your box is grown following organic standards.

NATURAL PRODUCE at your doorstep

StocktonHarvest will only sell the best home gardens and Boggs Tract Community Farm can provide. If you're a chef or restaurant owner, you'll find StocktonHarvest supplies quality produce. More importantly, the money you spend helps the local economy. All herbs and veggies are grown naturally with no herbicides or pesticides. At just $60 per month, our prices can't be beat.

OUR ETHOS

We at StocktonHarvest believe that the healthiest produce for people to eat is that grown in soil that's rich in organic matter. That gives plants the minerals and elements they need so they, in turn, can give you what your body craves for good health.

We grow our own vegetables using the principals of organic horticulture, nurturing plants the way nature intended, with no chemical pesticides, herbicides, fungicides or synthetic fertilizers. We use seeds untreated with fungicides, and grow a wide array of heirloom varieties of vegetables, fruits and legumes on the Boggs Tract Community Farm in southwest Stockton, and on other farmland near Stockton.

From carrots, tomatoes, citrus, squash, stone fruits and micro greens to farm fresh natural eggs, make StocktonHarvest your choice for healthy local produce in your kitchen!
